Transformative Adult Learning for Green Transition

Reflections of Tale Innovation Groups

As a Prototype for Collaboration between Adult Learning Education and Green Grassroot Initiatives

Phase 1: Initial Contact with Green Grassroots Initiative	Phase 2: Building Connection and Collaborative Process	Phase 3: Joint Activity with Green Grassoort Initiative	Phase 4: Future Outlook and Collaboration
How did you find and learn about the initiative (through internet search, personal contact, social network, word of mouth)? What caught your attention and why was the initiative selected? How did the first contact take place (phone, email, other)? How does the initiative work for a green transition?	Who did you meet? What was your first impression (personally, professionally)? How did the communication work? What did you arrange at this first meeting and what were your feelings? Describe the process of collaboration: What are shared goals? What are the main parts and actions? What mutual benefits do you think can be created? How do you feel about it all? The metaphor of cultivating a plant to describe this process of growth, the need for pruning, watering, using some kind of fertiliser and protecting the plant from negative influences.	What kind of joint event/activity/ project/campaign did you organise? Where? When? Why? Who with Who for? How did the process work out? What are your impressions of the event? What are impressions of the grassroots initiative? What is the feedback from learners? In what ways did (transformative) learning happen? Did the event create good conditions for transformation? What methods or tools did you use?	What went well in the collaboration? What was challenging? What would you do differently or change next time? What do you appreciate about the green initiative and innovation groups? Would you like to collaborate with the same/another green initiative? Yes or no and especially why? If you continue working together, what are your future plans? What do you see are the results and potentials of such collaborations for advancing the green transition?

Meta Reflections and Recommendations

What are your learnings and unlearnings from the entire experience and process of the innovation groups?
What are your suggestions, recommendations and good practices for other ALE institutions?
What are your suggestions for selecting green grassroots initiatives?
What did you experience that are barriers and what are enablers for a collaboration between ALE and green grassroots initiative?
What actual benefits did the ALE institutions and the green initiatives experience?
How was it to work “cross-borders” institutionally - and what did you learn or would recommend?
